

Leaving Feedback on a Lesson

Click on the lesson from your plan or from under your “courses” tab.

It will bring up a page that looks like this and just follow the direction.

K12 Feedback

K12 welcomes your feedback on our curriculum - your comments and suggestions will help us improve our program.

If you need a response or immediate attention, please contact Customer Support, available 24/7 at 866-512-2273, or online. Customer Support will assist you with questions about:
